AS. H. SMITH KILLED BY CHARLES HUSBAND

New Seminole Hotel in Jacksonville Was Scene of Tragedy Early Saturday Morning.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 23.—Because he thought his own life in danger, and fearing a threat made against him, Charles A. Husband, a carpenter, shot and killed James H. Smith, an electrician, on the first floor of the Seminole Hotel, now in process of construction at the corner of Forsyth and Duval streets, shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. Five shots were fired by Husband, and every one took effect in the body of Smith. Either of the shots which entered his body near the heart would have caused death. Smith was taken to the floor of the building after shooting and died without a word. The coroner's jury which met at 10 o'clock this morning found a verdict of justifiable homicide, and Husband was liberated immediately after finding of the verdict.

Husband made no attempt to escape, as he stood with the smoking revolver in his hand, and was arrested a few minutes after the shooting.

The reports of the five shots brought hundreds who were on their way to work, running into the building and workmen about the structure rushed to the scene.

The shooting occurred near the center of the first floor and close to the dining engine used in operating an elevator for material. That Husband had the threats of Smith made in the presence of witnesses is apparent from the fact that at 11:20 o'clock he was awakened by Justice L. D. Bell and took out a peace warrant against Smith, alleging that Smith had threatened to kill him if he did not leave the city. The warrant was issued and would have been served upon Smith this morning but for the unfortunate shooting.

Husband Talks.

Shortly after his arrest Husband freely made a statement. He spoke briefly and to the point and appeared to be making a true statement of the facts. He said:

"Day before yesterday (Thursday) I was told that this man had threatened to kill me. Friday noon I received a message over the telephone, warning me to be on the lookout. This message and the other one came from friends. Friday afternoon when we quit work on the building I stopped Smith and said: 'Mr. Smith, I understand you have said that you were going to kill me.' He spoke in an angry tone, saying: 'Yes, damn you, I'd kill you now if I had my gun. Next time I see you I'll do it. You'd better get out of town. I killed one ———, and I'll kill you, too.'"

"Carl Camps, who was working in the building with us, heard this remark of Smith. This morning, fearing trouble, I carried my revolver in my side trousers pocket. As I entered the building Smith was waiting not far from his tool box. I thought he was armed and ready to carry out his threat. I was cautious, but did not seek trouble. He stopped me and said: 'Damn you, you ain't left town

NIC FRANCISCO ASSAULTED LAST NIGHT

FIGHT OCCURRED AT NIC FRANCISCO'S FRUIT STORE.

Oscar Johns, a New Addition to the Greek Colony, Was the Assailant.

From Saturday's Daily Sun:

One of the most exciting fist fights witnessed in Gainesville for a number of years occurred in Nic Francisco's place on the south side of the square, shortly after 7 o'clock Friday night. From what could be learned, Francisco was kneeling on the sidewalk in front of his store handling fruit, when Oscar Johns, a new addition to the Greek colony from Tarpon Springs, accosted him. Words were exchanged and Johns kicked Francisco, when the latter sprang upon his feet and the two men clinched in the doorway. A tremendous crowd soon gathered and excitement was at fever heat for some time until Policeman Robert Owens and Deputy W. G. Richardson arrived upon the scene and arrested all parties concerned, when Marshal Dell arrived and required bonds for them to appear before Mayor Davis this morning. There has been ill feeling between Francisco and some of the other Greeks for some time past, and one gentleman says that about twenty minutes prior to the fight Johns passed Francisco and told him if he did not quit selling grapes at 15 cents a basket he would beat him to death.

yet?" As he made a move toward his tool box I pulled the gun and fired every shot in it. I hated to do it, and I regret that I was compelled to, but I just had to do it; that's all."

Even then Husband did not realize that he had killed Smith, and the remark of regret was made after he had been told that Smith was dead. Husband boarded at 330 Bridge street at the boarding-house conducted by Smith's wife, with whom he had lived for several years. It was because of some jealousy regarding her that Smith became angered at Husband, and, as it is alleged, threatened to kill him.

Smith's reference to the killing of one man is founded upon fact: On October 26, 1907, shortly after 9:30 o'clock, at the corner of Bridge and Bay streets, Smith shot and killed John Massey Milton, a fireman on the Seaboard Air Line railway. Smith at that time was employed as a shipping clerk by the Vandeman Grocery Company. Milton was also a boarder in the home of Smith's wife, and upon a combined defense of unwritten law and insanity Smith was acquitted in the circuit court, his case coming up for trial on January 21, 1908. He was acquitted on January 23rd, the trial occupying two days. Milton was a son of T. N. Milton, a prominent business man of Lake City. The wife at this time denied the story told by her husband in his defense.

Smith has not lived with his wife since that time, and just why he sought Husband's life is sealed by death. Smith lived at the corner of Myrtle avenue and Adams street, at a rooming house. Husband came to Jacksonville a little over a year ago from North Carolina. His home, however, is at Hartsville, S. C., where he has a brother, T. J. Husband, and a sister, Mrs. R. H. Howle. Another brother, W. L. Husband, lives at Aberdeen, Wash.

After the shooting friends of the dead man opened his tool chest, which was unlocked with the key still in the padlock, and a Smith & Wesson, 32-caliber revolver was found lying on top of the tools. The gun was loaded.

The Green brothers have bought the store and lot belonging to L. V. Ralston at Darrington. They will soon take charge of the business.

SENATOR McCARREN OF NEW YORK IS DEAD

Great Brooklyn Democrat Who Refused to Support Hearst for Governor Dies From Operation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Patrick H. McCarren, State Senator and Democratic leader of Brooklyn, died at St. Catherine's Hospital, Brooklyn, at 1:15 o'clock yesterday morning, never having completely rallied from the effects of an operation for appendicitis which was performed on October 13. His death was not unexpected, in fact the Senator himself realized throughout the afternoon and the earlier part of the night that his end was near.

Senator McCarren remained fully conscious all day. He said to the physicians in consultation over him yesterday:

"Gentlemen, I know what you have come for. There is no need for a consultation. I knew I was dying the day I walked into this hospital. I have made a study of my own case, and I find that my trouble is an old heart and an old stomach. If you replace them with new ones there might be a chance of my getting better."

One of the pathetic features of Senator McCarren's illness was that his aged mother was not apprised of his condition. She thought that the campaign had kept him from home and Senator McCarren had insisted that she be kept in ignorance for fear the shock would be too great for her.

Patrick Henry McCarren, by trade a cooper, by profession a lawyer, and by vocation a politician, was one of the most picturesque figures in the political history of Greater New York. No leader was ever more roundly condemned, yet at the close of sixty-one years of his life, he was probably the most strongly entrenched leader in New York State, and had even wielded some influence in national politics.

Senator McCarren first became recognized as a commanding leader in the days when David B. Hill was at the height of his power. In 1903, he wrested the leadership of Brooklyn from Hugh McLaughlin, who had held it for forty years. Since that time the Senator had won all primaries, though his political death was predicted each year. At the Democratic national convention, which nominated Alton B. Parker, the task of inducing Southern leaders to remain in line, following the arrival of the famous "gold" telegram, fell on McCarren's shoulders.

McCarren's opposition to the candidacy of Mr. Hearst for Governor led to the charges of treason against him, and his delegates were excluded from the party convention in April of last year to name delegates to the national Democratic convention.

Nevertheless, he appeared there with delegates, and was rejected. His downfall was then confidently predicted, but only last month he received what he regarded as final vindication when he won nineteen out of

Sea Island Cotton Market Was Irregular Past Week

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—The Sea Island cotton market was irregular the past part of the week. Early in the week the market was firm with the demand and business done at the outside quotations. When the demand was satisfied the market quiet, and bids were lower, some sales on the reduced basis. Early the demand increased again prices stiffened. The close was firm, buyers shading their bids, but holders generally firm. Sales larger than the week before, although receipts showed a falling off. The market for the two bottom grades nominal.

Reports of a falling off in the Florida crop have been further confirmed; and it is estimated that the total will be 25 per cent under last year. Some accounts say the crop is practically all picked. The Georgia crop is still regarded as about equal to last year's.

Pensacola Man Must Serve His Term in Penitentiary

PENSACOLA, Oct. 23.—William Camp, prominent as the proprietor of the most luxuriously furnished saloon in Florida, must serve eighteen months in the State penitentiary, for having bought the case at every stage of the supreme court of the State, and down a decision affirming the decision of the lower courts. This reached here yesterday morning and was received with much rejoicing by the friends of Camp. He was a year ago, with a number of prominent young men, it being known that they operated the De-Society Club as a gambling place. A number of them pleaded guilty to the charge and were fined as high as $2,500, while others are now serving terms in jail. The sentence upon Camp was more severe than upon the others by reason of the fact that several years ago he was fined $500, and warned that if he was ever convicted again in this court he would be sent to the penitentiary. This the court did in passing sentence immediately after conviction. Camp's attorneys believed there was a chance to get the decision reversed owing to the class of evidence admitted, but the supreme court states that the evidence was admissible.

Bigham and Avant Given Three and a Half Years

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 23.—"Guilty of manslaughter," read the verdict returned at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Georgetown, S. C., in the trial of Dr. G. C. Bigham and A. B. Avant, charged with the killing of the young wife of Dr. Bigham at Murrell's Island on the evening of September 4. A motion for a new trial was overruled, and the judge sentenced the defendants to a term of three and a half years at hard labor in the penitentiary. The prisoners were admitted to bail in the sum of $1,500, pending an appeal to the supreme court.

Mrs. Bigham was shot to death by Avant while she was walking toward the beach, where she intended to go into the surf. It was almost dark, and the defendants claimed that when they received no response from her when called upon by them to explain who she was, and what she wanted, they believed it was someone who had been engaged in some unlawful act, and was trying to escape.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Walts stated that the case was one of the most mysterious and unsatisfactory he had ever tried and that, while he did not believe the killing was malicious, he would not have been surprised had the verdict been either acquittal or conviction for murder. Great recklessness had been shown, he said, and the defendants had been rattled or greatly frightened.

Wreck on the Panhandle Causes Death Six People

RICHMOND, Ind., Oct. 23.—Six persons were killed in a wreck on the Panhandle division of the Pennsylvania railroad, near Collinsville, Ohio, yesterday when a southbound passenger train ran into a freight train on an open siding. A relief train with medical aid was sent from Richmond. The passenger train, which does not stop at Collinsville, was said to have been running fifty miles an hour when the crash came. According to reports the switch was open and the passenger and freight trains collided head-on.

E. G. Webb, Richmond, freeman of passenger train.

O. O. Raines, Kokomo, mail clerk.

EDUCATIONAL RALLY WAS GRAND SUCCESS

GOOD CROWD PRESENT TO HEAR
ADDRESSES AT COURT HOUSE.

Practical Educators Talked Along
Practical Lines, and All Present Felt Benefited.

From Thursday's Daily Sun:

According to announcement, the Alachua County School Improvement Association held a meeting at the court house Tuesday night, when many interested in education had the pleasure of hearing some most excellent addresses along these lines by speakers who, being educators themselves, handled the subject in a clever and practical manner. Even Congressman Frank Clark, who made the principal talk of the evening, stated that at one time he earned his living by teaching a country school in South Florida, hence was in a position to speak more intelligently upon what he considered one of the most important topics in the whole country at this time—the education of the children.

The meeting was called to order by Prof. W. H. Cassels, principal of the Gainesville Graded and High School, who presided throughout the evening.

Prof. Cassels indulged in a talk of possibly a half hour, every moment of which was full of interest and good practical suggestions. At the close of his remarks he introduced Prof. Thaxton, of the University staff, who made a few brief but timely remarks, which were well received.

Frank Clark's Address.

At the conclusion of Prof. Thaxton's remarks the presiding officer, in a neat and clever manner, presented Hon. Frank Clark, which was a signal for applause as that gentleman arose and faced the audience.

Col. Clark, who is one of the most pleasing speakers in the State, seemed at his best upon this occasion, and for nearly an hour his remarks were listened to with the closest attention.

The speaker said many good things, but insisted that the most important matter for consideration in this progressive age was the construction of good roads and a rural system of telephones. "I want to see the day when this grand country of ours will be a network of hard roads and telephone lines," he said, "for that means we will have good schools—they are bound to result from good roads, a generous telephone system, and other modern improvements, for these are instruments of education in themselves; and the day we see them, that day we will see a consolidation of small schools into large ones, which means the employment of more efficient instructors."

Mr. Clark said he used to earn a living teaching a country school in South Florida, and he realized keenly the disadvantages of the average teacher, especially in the country school, where disadvantageous conditions frequently exist of which the patrons or the public know nothing. He concluded his remarks by appealing to patrons to do their share towards making the teacher and the school a success.

OPENING A BIG SUCCESS.

Big Hyde Store Thronged With Women on the Opening Day.

From Friday's Daily Sun:

The first, or opening day, of the fall showing of the Hyde Co., which occurred Thursday, was an event of much interest in Gainesville, as the women thronged the store from early morning until closing time searching for bargains, and viewing the magnificent display at this store.

There was much to interest the ladies upon this occasion, and they drank in the pretty things on display with the enthusiasm of a small boy taking in the sights of a menagerie—only it was a different kind of an enthusiasm. Down stairs there was plenty of fine things in dry goods—dress goods, silks, cotton goods, notions, etc., while on the second floor a feast of good things was in store for those who attended the opening.

Among the most noticeable of the many handsome things on display in the millinery department was an automobile bonnet, something of the very latest. This bonnet was of chamols skin, trimmed with black velvet and wings, and was admired by every lady visiting the place, whether interested in automobiles or not. Another great attraction was a large black velvet Neapolitan, which was faced with gold and trimmed with a gorgeous willow plume. In fact, there were many creations new and unique, all of which commanded the attention of those who attended this grand opening.

The opening will continue today and tomorrow, and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

TIRED OF LIFE, WHITE SUICIDED

WELL-KNOWN RAILROAD MAN
DIED FROM EFFECTS OF GAS.

Chief Clerk of Terminals Wrote a
Note, Turned on the Gas, and Lay Down for Sleep of Death.

The Times-Union of Wednesday brought the sad and surprising information of the suicide of C. J. White, chief clerk to W. T. Hensell, superintendent of terminals for the Atlantic Coast Line railway at Jacksonville, the unfortunate man having been found dead in a room in his home Tuesday night, the result of asphyxiation.

Deceased was well-known among the employees of the Atlantic Coast Line, and was quite popular among a large circle of railroad friends, and the news of his death from suicide came as a great shock to all.

Mr. White has been in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line for several years, and was regarded as one of the most valued men in the service. He was as a rule possessed of a most amiable disposition, always looking upon the bright or humorous side of things, and it was thought he would have been the last man to take his own life.

Mr. White was driving an automobile last Sunday night, when the machine ran into a horse and wagon, injuring the animal to such extent that it was necessary to put it to death by shooting. The owner of the horse, the Dixie Transfer Company, through its manager, caused a warrant to be sworn out for the arrest of White upon a charge of reckless driving, and it was when the officers went to the White home to arrest the man that his death was discovered. His lifeless body was found lying stretched at full length across a bed, and the gas jets in the room were turned on, which told the story.

Mrs. White, wife of deceased, was visiting in New York at the time of this unfortunate incident, and the following note, written on the margin of a newspaper and addressed to Wm. C. Cooper, the undertaker, explained it all:

"Mr. Cooper: Wire Mrs. W. at 303 West Twentieth street, New York, and have my body embalmed and buried here upon her arrival. I am tired of this continuous struggle. (Signed) C. J. W." On another margin of the paper was a postscript as follows: "Call up Charles Fitzpatrick at 2932 and ask him to select some of the boys at the office to act as pallbearers."

Lieutenant of Police Roach immediately notified Justice Howell, as coroner, and after viewing the body it was turned over to Undertaker William C. Cooper, Jr., who embalmed it and will hold it until the arrival of Mrs. White from New York.

THE CITY COUNCIL CANVASSED VOTE

CHAS. M. DELL DECLARED WINNER IN MARSHAL CONTEST.

Submitted and Approved, and Marshal Dell Will Assume Duties Today—Owens on Night Force.

from Friday's Daily Sun.

The City Council convened in adjourned session at the council chamber Thursday night, the meeting being held for the purpose of canvassing and verifying the returns of the special election for marshal on Tuesday, which Chas. M. Dell was the successful candidate, according to the reports of the election inspectors.

The returns were found correct, and were accepted and approved, after which Marshal-Elect Dell filed his bond of $500 for the faithful discharge of his duties, and Marshal Dell will go on duty today, as soon as he administered the oath of office by Mayor Davis.

Acting Marshal Harry Owens, who was appointed to fill the position on account of the resignation of Marshal Brown until an election could be held, and who has performed his duty faithfully, will return to his position as night officer, and it may be said that no more competent a man could be secured for this responsible position.

Mr. Owens was serving the people efficiently as night officer at the time he was appointed marshal by the mayor, and at the election Tuesday he was a candidate for the position of marshal; but as has been said before, this was a good-natured fight among friends, and nobody feels bad over the matter.

Mr. Dell served the county faithfully and efficiently as street supervisor, and it goes without saying that he will perform the duties of marshal as well as he would—with fairness and impartiality.

Mr. Owens was faithful, both as night officer and as acting marshal, and there is no doubt but that he will resume his former duties with probably better efficiency than before, because he has enjoyed the experience of duties as a marshal.

While the force is small, it may be said that Gainesville will enjoy the most competent police protection of any city in the State for the money expended.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in this vicinity.

Can Gainesville residents demand further proof than that contained in the following testimonial?

Oscar Osterman, of Starke, Fla., says: "I give Doan's Kidney Pills my highest recommendation as they proved of more benefit to me than any other remedy I had previously used. I suffered from kidney trouble for some time. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and I was forced to arise from six to eight times during the night. I also had backache and was bothered by a pain through my loins. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon helped me. By the time I had taken the contents of two boxes, the backaches and pains entirely disappeared and the passages of the kidney secretions soon became regular. I now feel fifty per cent better than before in a long time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

400 BALES COTTON

SOLD AT ALACHUA

FARMERS' UNION DISPOSES OF COTTON AT MODERATE PRICE.

Twenty-Four Cents a Pound, Regardless of Quality, Was the Price Paid by Savannah Firm.

One of the largest and most important cotton sales recorded in Alachua county for the season transpired at Alachua two or three days ago, when the Farmers' Union sold to Savannah parties about four hundred bales of the fleecy staple at a flat price of 24 cents a pound.

With an average weight of 390 pounds to the bale, it will readily be seen that this sale aggregated a considerable sum—probably $38,000—which was paid promptly by the buyers, and which naturally meant a big thing for the grower and the merchant alike, and the result is that the commercial interests of Alachua have been lively since the sale was consummated.

The growers who hold membership in the Farmers' Union have been holding their cotton, through an understanding and agreement, for better prices, and they were finally rewarded. There were three bidders from the Savannah market, and for a while bidding was lively, but the staple was finally knocked down in a "lump" at 24 cents, regardless of quality.

It was at first agreed to sell five hundred bales, but several of the growers are said to have "kicked out" on account of price, hence the sale fell about one hundred bales short.

While there have been several sales of consequence in Alachua this season, this was the first sale by members of the Farmers' Union, and the only one of such immense proportions, which is probably the most important sale of the season in the Sea Island cotton belt.

WILSON COMPANY'S OPENING.

This Event Proved Very Popular and Profitable to the Ladies.

From Friday's Daily Sun.

The opening display of the new fall styles at the big Wilson store was a source of admiration and delight to hundreds of women, not only in Gainesville, but throughout the county, who thronged the store from early morning until closing-time each day.

The lower floor was filled with the very latest in new dress goods and silks, trimmed to match, fine cotton goods, notions, in fact everything to be found in a first-class dry goods store, while the second floor was devoted to millinery and ready-to-wear goods, the display overflowing with beautiful creations of the latest designs, among them being the beautiful evening capes, fine dresses and beautiful tailor-made suits and hats that were a revelation for style and workmanship. There was no uniformity of style, but a distinctiveness that can be found in few stores.

It is the aim of the Wilson Company to keep only the highest-class goods, but at popular prices, and buyers can always find New York styles at Gainesville prices.

The Wilson Company have already established a reputation second to none in the State, and such an institution would be a credit to any city of much larger population.

Man of Many Limbs.

The old Colonel was spinning off yarns of the Civil War and in the heat of reminiscent patriotism his memory became somewhat tangled.

"Ah, gentlemen," he related, seriously, "I shall never forget the charge at Chickamauga. It was there that I lost my leg." Ten minutes later the old Colonel was relating an incident of Gettysburg.

"And when we climbed Little Round Top the bullets were whistling on all sides. It was there that I lost my leg."

And thirty minutes later through a misty haze of smoke—

"Seven Pines, gentlemen, Seven Pines! Ah, that was the battle. One of my legs was shot from under me and"—

But just then a timid little boy looked up and asked shyly: "Grandpa, were you a centipede in those days?"

Every man should have a threefold ambition—that of making a real success of his life, of advancing the well-being of the place in which he lives, and the cheerful performance of his duties as a citizen of his country.

The Deland News says many of Hon. Jim Alexander's friends are urging him to enter the race for Congress. It's dollars to doughnuts that Jim will not make the race next year. Like his friend Broward, he has had his "fill" of meeting Frank Clark on the stump.

If the people who would "sit and sing themselves away to everlasting bliss" would only have as strong a wish to remain here and put a little more everyday bliss into the lives of others, their own chance of future as well as present bliss would be increased a thousandfold.

The Sun is a strong believer in probation sentences for violators of the law for the first offence. A jail sentence at hard labor, with a parole of the culprit pending good behavior, will do more to deter people from committing crime the second time than the heaviest fine that could be imposed.

The United States weather bureau costs $1,000,000 a year and employs 200 men in different parts of the country who send various reports about the weather in their locality to Washington twice each day. The bureau's forecasts are now sent to more than 1,000,000 farmers every day by means of rural delivery.

A specialist in cotton estimates the coming year's takings as compared with last year's as follows: Exports 7,500,000 bales, against 8,566,000 bales last year; American mills 4,750,000 bales, against 5,300,000 last year. Total, 12,250,000 bales, against 13,866,000 last year. Assuming that this season's crop may contribute during the commercial year 11,550,000 bales out of the 12,250,000 estimated, there would remain 750,000 bales to come from the reserve that may be held in the cotton belt. Steadily advancing prices have probably cleared up most of this "cotton."

At a factory at Murrysville, Pa., erected there by Pittsburg capitalists to test the value of a process for the manufacture of sugar, paper pulp and denatured alcohol from Indian corn, sugar equal to that made from Southern cane, and the best grades of book and printing paper are being produced at about one-half the present cost. The results, if they be sustained in practical experience, are revolutionary and mean that in the near future a large part of the $250,000,000 now being paid out yearly in the United States for foreign sugar and paper stuff will be kept at home.

ROSIN AND TURPENTINE.

Rosin and turpentine, known technically as naval stores from the fact that for many years their principal uses were maritime, are produced from two species of Southern pine, the long leaf and the Cuban, but it is quite probable that a number of other species will be employed within the next twenty-five years. The crop of naval stores, including four and a quarter million pounds of rosin and sixteen and a quarter million casks of spirits of turpentine, has an approximate annual value to those engaged in it of at least thirty million dollars. For how many centuries commercial use has been made of the sap of the pine cannot be determined with any degree of assurance, but the custom was general in South France at the time of the invasion of England by the Spanish Armada. For many years the industry was confined to the south of France and Austria, where it still flourishes on a small scale, and it was not until a hundred years ago that intelligent effort was made to establish it on this continent. For fifty years or so the Carolinas and Virginias were the chief turpentine-producing States, but with the opening up of the pine forests of Georgia the scene of operations was gradually shifted Southward, until before very long Georgia had become the center of the industry. At the present time Florida is in the lead, with Georgia and Alabama a close second and third. The depletion of Florida's forests, however, is gradually extending the turpentine area westward, and it is quite possible in twenty-five years' time Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas will be in the lead.

THE COUNTRY WOMAN'S CAREER.

Housework, instead of drudgery, is a beautiful science capable of development into art. She whose mind is alert to learn the best ways of caring for house and premises, to preserve the family health, and who studies the food problem that her table may offer the variety to provide for growth and repair, understanding that the body, being so largely dependent on food, may be strong and vigorous, or weak and ailing according to the food and its preparation, is filling a career surpassed only by the ability to mentally and morally train her family aright.

It is a beautiful thing to write a book, to sing a song or paint a picture, but it is more beautiful, more helpful and far-reaching to give to the world a family possessing bright, discriminating minds in sound, healthy bodies, whose moral perceptions will keep them on the side of right and justice, and whose Christian training will urge them to helpful deeds. This is a career open to every woman.

One beautiful home in a neighborhood will awaken emulation, resulting in the improvement of each home's surroundings. One church yard and school made attractive in a county will be an impetus to all others, and all these things will strengthen the love of country life and keep more of our best young people on the farm.

What more fruitful career than this can be desired?—Mrs. C. S. Everts, in Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer.

The East Coast Homeseeker gives a striking illustration of the economy of spending money to build hard roads, taking Dade county as an example: "Perhaps the best illustration of what hard-surface roads will do for a new section of the country is Dade county," it says. "One of the first moves made by the Fort Dallas Land Company, under the direction of Mr. J. E. Ingraham, after the city of Miami was laid out, was to pave several of the streets with Miami rock, giving Miami at that time the best and most durable hard-surface streets in the State. This created a great enthusiasm among the new settlers who had cast their lot in this southern portion. Thirteen years ago there was not a foot of hard-surface road in the county, yet today the whole county is covered with a network of hard-surface roads equal in every way to city pavements, and each year there is a marked increase in the mileage of these roads. The result of this movement has been the settling up of the county with a thrifty, energetic, pushing class of farmers and fruit growers. Hard-surface roads have been largely the reason for the rapid development of the county."

GAY WINTER IN MELROSE.

A gentleman who has just returned from the eastern part of the county says beautiful little Melrose is fairly bristling with activity and importance these days brushing up for the new season which will begin full blast the first of November. Fences are being straightened, roadways are being cleared up tidily, buildings are being painted, orange groves are being cleaned up, and a small army of mechanics are at work putting the finishing touches on improvements on the winter homes of the Northern people who form quite an important part of the population from November till April.

Already word has reached the village that a party will leave New York November 4th on the steamer City of Savannah, to include Emory J. Whitehead, who has been South to Melrose thirty successive winters and considers it the garden spot of the earth. To Mr. Whitehead more than to anyone else is due the present location and success of Melrose. It was on his first trip South, to hunt, that he decided to make a winter home on the ridge at the edge of Santa Fe lake. He built a hunting lodge, and in the next few years induced many of his friends to do likewise. A little settlement of hunters soon became the nucleus of the present prosperous town of Melrose, and Mr. Whitehead is regarded by all as the "Dean of the Village." He is now a full-fledged citizen of Florida and is a "high up" Mason.

With Mr. Whitehead will come Mrs. Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Leigh M. Pearsall, Miss Edna Pearsall, Miss Harriet Pearsall and Miss Sackrider. It is said that about the same time Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamlyn and Mr. and Mrs. Jules Rummel will come by rail South to spend the winter in Melrose. Others to come later include Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Embree of Bristol, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards of Westfield, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Terry and daughter, from Plainfield, N. J. Mr. Terry is a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and Mr. Pearsall is a member of the New York Cotton Exchange and New York Produce Exchange.

Melrose bay and Santa Fe lake will be dotted with motor boats, some fifteen now being in commission, and others arranged for early shipment from Detroit and other boat-building centers. The more prominent pleasure motor craft now in the water are the "Dixie" (owned by B. A. Chamberlin), the "Elle" (owned by Walter Hamlyn), the "Lenemma" (owned by Harry Jackson), the "Santa Fe" (owned by Alexander Craig), the "Indian Princess" (owned by Leigh M. Pearsall), the "Chieftain" (owned by Thomas A. Birt), the "Getaway" (owned by Baron Lutichau), and the "Scooter" (owned by a Waldo gentleman).

It is said that early in November a boat club will be formed and arrangements made for a regatta to be held early in February, when the town will entertain the surrounding country to a water fete such as has never been witnessed on Lake Santa Fe.

The ladies of the social set are scheming out card party plans of a most unique character, and swell receptions will be numerous. The Masons will doubtless give their usual annual oyster dinner which heretofore has been considered the event of the season.

Fine hunting dogs are being groomed by the hunters and the devotees of the rod are selecting their most tempting flies for a try at the fish. All told, the winter in Melrose will far outshine any previous season in point of social activity as well as winter tourist population.

Judge W. S. Bullock returned yesterday from Tavares, where he held court. He said from the size of the docket he thought it would take two weeks to try all the cases. There were thirteen cases tried. Every witness summoned was on hand, with all the attorneys in the cases. Every accused was convicted, and the docket cleared. It so impressed the Judge that he will commemorate the unusual proceedings by tabulating the event and hang same up in every court room in his circuit, so that other may do likewise.—Ocala Star. When, oh when, will The Sun be able to record such a condition of the docket of the court in Alachua county? "Every witness summoned was on hand with all the attorneys in the cases." Wouldn't that be a pleasing announcement for you to be able to make, Judge Wills? But we fear it will not be during your time as judge, unless you "put the screws" to the lawyers and witnesses.

TAFT AT THE MEXICAN BORDER.

President Taft's salary as chief executive of the United States is $205,48 per day.

If the President has earned his pay on any day since he began his now famous "swing" through the West, it was on October 16, when, as the representative of 80,000,000 people of the United States, he expressed good will and esteem for the Government and people of our great sister republic to the South.

The long amicable relations of the United States and Mexico made the situation such that a bit of sentiment was all that was necessary to bring the two nations into a warm, sincere friendship. The meeting of Taft and Diaz, first at El Paso, then at Juarez, and later at Ciudad Juarez, was well worth the time of both executives.

Saturday, October 16th, marked the climax up to that time of pro-American sentiment in Mexico and pro-Mexican sentiment in the United States. On that day nothing was too good for the Mexican visitor in the border towns of California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. The American was equally welcome and popular in Mexico.

The exchange of well-wishes by the two Presidents having been entirely sincere and well-founded, the good will generated at the meeting echoed further than merely to the American and Mexican frontier towns; it reached every village and hamlet in both of the great republics, for the logical effects of the press reports of the international handshaking was to make all Americans, whether they lived in the States bordering on Mexico or in New England, feel just a little more friendly to the Mexican than ever before; and to make every Mexican see a little more to admire in his neighbor, the American.

The dispatches told how the residents of each side of the Rio Grande went a little further than half way in extending hearty welcome to their guests.

"The cities of El Paso and Juarez were gayly decorated," stated the Associated Press. "American and Mexican flags were everywhere entwined."

FRANKLIN—MERRY.

On October 14, 1909, the home of Mrs. S. L. Merry was the scene of a quiet home wedding, the contracting parties being Mr. A. H. Franklin of Tampa, Fla., and Miss Grace Emeline Merry, daughter of C. H. Merry (deceased) and Mrs. S. L. Merry of Micanopy. The house was appropriately decorated for the occasion, and promptly at 9 a. m. the bridal couple entered the parlor, where, in the presence of family and friends, Rev. Duncan read the words which united the destinies and caused two happy hearts to beat as one. The bride wore a beautiful cream-colored gown, made in a simple but becoming style, in which she looked what she really is, the highest type of pure womanhood. Having been reared in Micanopy, she numbers her friends here by her acquaintances, and will be sadly missed, as Grace was a general favorite. The groom is a native of Ohio, but has lived in our "Land of Flowers" long enough to have made for himself hosts of friends in Tampa, where he is well and favorably known, and although but little known in the Micanopy section, he left a strong impression for good on the hearts of those whom he met while here.

After the ceremony and congratulations the bride donned a traveling suit, dinner was served, and they took their departure on the noon train for Tampa, their future home, taking with them the good wishes of all their friends.

Mr. Bishop Here.

From Friday's Daily Sun:

Among the visitors to Gainesville Friday was R. J. Bishop of Eldridge, Volusia county. Mr. Bishop was a resident of this county about twelve years ago, being engaged in the mercantile and the business at High Springs, but is now postmaster of Eldridge, and is also conducting a mercantile and naval stores business at that place. He was en route home from Jacksonville, where he has been in attendance upon the meeting of the Turpentine Operators' Association, and reports having one of the best times of his life.

Mr. Bishop reports labor scarce in Volusia county, the orange and other industries having a tendency to keep everybody employed at this season of the year. There will be a good crop of fruit in that section.

Quite a large crowd of the young people of Island Grove and Lochloosa enjoyed themselves Friday night a fish fry on the banks of the beautiful Lochloosa lake. It was about o'clock when the fish arrived and therefore it was quite a late hour before supper was ready, but when the fish were done they were certainly nice, because they were fried by crack-a-jack fish-frier. All present enjoyed themselves immensely.

The above was the result of the football contest with the Olympics Saturday afternoon in Jacksonville, when the strong body of players from the University visited the metropolis to carry off the honors.

In all there were about sixty-two of the faithful admirers of Coach "men" from the University that accompanied the team over from this city, while a large number of citizens went over also on the other side for the purpose of witnessing the first contest of football played by the University.

The varsity boys showed their superior training, and it is safe to state that they will win a large percentage of the games the coming season with the eleven they are to tackle here and elsewhere. One of the strongest eleven that was ever assembled from any school in the South now championing the cause of the University of Florida.

Following is the line-up of the University team: Moody, left end; Wagner, left tackle; McMillan, left guard; Storter, Skipper, center; Cox, right guard; Rader, right tackle; Johnson, right end; Pile, quarter-back; A. Shands, left half-back; Vidal, back; E. A. Taylor right half-back. Taylor showed up well, kicking the goals from the field. In the half one goal kicked from place was caught by Pile on the twenty-five line, being a fair catch. There were two drops in the second half. Taylor, Vidal, Rader and Pile were ground gainers, while Moody and Johnson did good work on offense.

Florida was penalized to a considerable extent, but the officiating was bettered good. The halves were of thirty minutes' duration.

GEORGIA CITY "AT OUTS" WITH PRESIDENT TAFT

No Official Reception Will Be Tendered His Excellency Upon His Visit to Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 22.—After a spirited debate the Columbus Board of Trade last night tabled a resolution to appoint a committee to act in connection with the city authorities and meet and officially welcome President Taft to Columbus when he passes through this city on the night of Nov. 3, en route from Birmingham to Macon.

While the President's stay will be only ten minutes in duration, W. L. Lott, L. H. Chappell and other members of the board thought that even a temporary visit on the part of such a distinguished personage should be marked by some official reception and welcome, and if his visit was not officially recognized in that manner it would be a "slam on the city."

Mr. Lott offered a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee on reception, and it was tabled after a discussion in which its passage was opposed by Mayor Rhodes Browne, F. B. Gordon and others, the motion to table being offered by Dan Joseph, a member of the committee that went to Washington some time ago and invited the President to visit Columbus, securing his acceptance of the invitation.

The mayor stated that so far as not appointing a committee on reception being a "slam on the city" it would be a reflection upon the city's dignity to continue to press its attentions upon the President. He said that every member of the committee that went to Washington could testify to President Taft's positive promise to make Columbus a visit if he made his Southern trip.

Mayor Browne said that the President's stay of ten minutes here could not be considered a visit, and that any how the Presidential party would scarcely expect any official reception during such a short stay.

Mr. Gordon in his remarks expressed doubts if the distinguished gentleman would be awake at the time of his arrival here 9:50 p. m.

Mr. Chappell said that it would be a reflection upon Columbus if no official welcome and reception were tendered the President, and if the Board of Trade and City Council should decline to appoint a committee he would be in favor of calling a mass meeting so that the true sentiment of the people on this subject could be expressed.

The motion to table was adopted by a vote of perhaps three to one. The Board of Trade sent a committee to Augusta last winter, and to Washington a few weeks ago, to secure a visit from President Taft.

TEDDY'S FRIEND KILLS
LEOPARD BARE-HANDED

Ex-President Tells All About It In His Contribution to a Magazine for November.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Theodore Roosevelt, writing in the November number of Scribner's Magazine, gives an account of his first encounter with big African game.

"My friend, Carl Akely of Chicago, actually killed, bare-handed, a leopard which sprang on him," he says. "He had already wounded the beast twice, crippling it in one front and one hind paw, whereupon it charged, followed him as he tried to dodge the charge and struck him full just as he turned."

"It bit him in one arm, biting again and again as it worked up the arm from the wrist to the elbow; but Akely threw it, holding its throat with the other hand and flinging its body to one side. It luckily fell on its side with its two wounded legs uppermost so that it could not tear him. He fell forward with it and crushed in its chest with his knees until he distinctly felt one of its ribs crack; this, said Akely, was the first moment when he felt he might conquer."

Chokes Beast's Life Out.

"Redoubling his efforts, with knees and hand, he actually choked and crushed the life out of it, although his arm was badly bitten."

Mr. Roosevelt devotes considerable space to telling how he brought the bay and finally killed a lion. The description begins at a point where the hunter is standing beside his mount, considering what he shall do if the lion charges and cannot be stopped by a well directed shot. The writer continues:

"Now an elderly man with a varied past, which includes rheumatism, does not vault lightly into the saddle, as his sons, for instance, can; and I had already made up my mind that in the event of the lion's charging it would be wise for me to trust to straight powder rather than to try to scramble into the saddle and get under way in time."

"I could still not see the lion when I knelt, but he was now standing up, looking first at one group of horses then at the other, his tail lashing to and fro, his head held low and his lips dropped in peculiar fashion, while his harsh and savage growling rolled thunderously over the plain. Seeing Simba and me on foot, he turned toward us, his tail lashing quicker and quicker."

"Resting my elbow on Simba's bent shoulder, I took steady aim and pressed the trigger. The bullet went in between the neck and shoulder and the lion fell over on his side, one foreleg in the air. He recovered in a moment and stood up, evidently very sick, and once more faced me, growling hoarsely. I think he was on the eve of charging. I fired again at once and this bullet broke his back just behind the shoulders, and with the next I killed him outright, after we had gathered round him."

A Great Reunion.

E. A. Fewell and L. W. Jackson have returned from Live Oak, where they attended the annual reunion of the Confederate Veterans of the State. They say that the meeting was a most pleasant one and that fully 600 old warriors assembled there for this occasion. Both speak in the highest terms of the liberal treatment that was accorded them, and state that everything in the city was free to them during their visit.

PATHFINDERS HAVE
MOST PLEASANT TRIPARRIVED HERE LAST NIGHT,
MAKING GOOD TIME.The Finish of This Trip Will Decide
the Most Available Route for Race.

From Sunday's Daily Sun:

The second and most interesting trip for the Tampa-Jacksonville endurance race before the final test, is now being made by a party representing the Tampa Automobile Club, who arrived in Gainesville last night.

Those in the party are T. E. Bryan, president; B. M. Reed, secretary, representing the club; C. S. Washington, official road representative, and L. D. Reagan of The Times. The party were first heard from at Ocala last night at 8:30 and were making remarkably good time, considering that they left Tampa at almost the noon hour.

This will probably be the last trip made outside of the cars that will be placed on to put up the signs, and when the same is ended it will be known as to whether this is the official route that will be used in the endurance run.

In all there are now over one hundred entries for this race and it will prove of much benefit to the towns and cities en route, for the reason that it will mark the official and best route overland and will cause many cars to pass through here. It will also further advance the interests of the hard road question and this alone will be a matter of much good to the country.

The arrival of the party from Tampa last night was an almost surety that this was the route selected, but it will not be known fully until the trip is finished. The party stopped over here and will be furnished with a "pilot" from this city to Jacksonville on the final run today.

SENATOR MCCARREN
OF NEW YORK IS DEAD

Physically, Senator McCarren was very tall and lank. His face was almost funereal when in repose. In manner he was courteous, and generous of attention, but niggardly of speech. The qualities which in the opinion of his friends contributed most to his success in politics were keenness, tenacity of purpose, personal fidelity, perfect self-control and patience. He was sometimes called a hard man devoid of sentiment.

"I had a romance once," he said to a close friend, "when I was a young man I fell in love with a girl and we were married. We lived very happily. We had five children. When I was thirty-one, I had buried my wife and five children."

Is Building Nice Home.

F. P. Douglass, who owns and conducts a farm a short distance from the city, evidently has faith in Gainesville, like many others, for he is erecting on a lot recently acquired on East Arlington street, corner Evans, a substantial and handsome five-room cottage.

It is said by contractors that this cottage will have advantages over many others, possibly in health as well as comfort. Mr. Douglass is making his pillars sufficiently high to permit of plenty of room under the house, which is one of the suggestions of pure air from a practical standpoint.

When finished, this home will be one of the prettiest in that section of the city.

North Gainesville Society.

The North Gainesville Literary Society held another of their interesting meetings on Friday evening in the hall in that suburb, which was largely attended and much interest manifested. With the advent of cooler weather they will again hold their meetings regularly each week.

The total enrollment at Palmer College has reached sixty. The number in the piano department is nineteen, and the number in the voice department eight. The prospects for the future are said to be very bright.

...SYRUP MAKING...

By C. K. McQuarrie, Florida Agri. Experiment Station
Press Bulletin No. 127

To be able to produce the best grade of syrup, two things are essential—an evaporator of the proper type, and a thorough skimming of the juice during the evaporating process.

The Evaporator

The evaporators on the market, such as the Cook pan and others, do not afford enough skimming surface to enable one to keep the juice well skimmed while it is evaporating. The best style of evaporator is a long pan, about eighteen feet in length and two feet in width, made of 2 by 6 dressed lumber, either poplar or cypress, with No. 22 galvanized sheet-iron for a bottom. It should be divided into three sections, with gates in the divisions to allow the juice to be passed on as it goes through the cooking process. The first of these sections should be eight feet long; the second, six feet; and the third, four feet. The evaporator should be laid on a brick arch, constructed so that the fire can be used from one end to the other. An evaporator of this kind can be made at home by any one handy with tools, and costs considerably less than a bought one.

Skimming

When the juice begins to heat in the first or largest section of the evaporator, a dense blanket of dark greenish color will begin rising to the surface. This blanket must be removed before the juice boils, and on its removal depends the quality of the syrup later on; for if this scum is allowed to mix with the boiling juice, the syrup will be cloudy and off flavor.

The old-time perforated skimmer is not a good skimming tool, because it does not skim clean, and allows most of what should be removed to fall back into the boiling juice. The best kind of skimmer is made from a piece of dressed lumber about fourteen inches square, fitted with a handle like a mortar board. In using this skimming board, the best way is to lay it flat on top of the scum in the pan. The scum will adhere to the board and can be removed without any of it falling back. By using a piece of lath to scrape the scum off the board into the skimmings barrel, we can make a perfect job of this, the most important part of the syrup making. This operation should be kept up all the time, and every particle of scum removed as it rises to the surface during the boiling process. As the juice evaporates and thickens, it should be passed on to the second compartment, where most of the boiling should be done. When near completion, it is run into the last section, where it is finished and tested for density.

Density of the Syrup

To get a uniform density we must use a hydrometer. Without this tool we can not be sure that all our batches are alike in density. Thirty-four degrees, while hot, is generally recognized as the standard of density for Florida cane syrup. When it comes near that point we must use precaution that it does not get too thick; for in the later stages evaporation is very rapid, and if a strong fire is under the pan there is some danger of burning as the syrup thickens. To help prevent this we have to regulate the fire and keep it low, when ready to run off a batch.

To facilitate running off the syrup, a spout should be provided on the side of the evaporator, with a tight gate on it, the same as in the divisions between the sections. When the syrup is ready, it should be run off through a fine woolen blanket, so as to insure perfect clearness, into a galvanized tub. It must be put in the packages provided for it, as soon as possible, while still hot.

The Best Package

High-grade syrup should never be put in barrels and very little of it in cans. Glass is the ideal package, and the demand of the market is for glass. A flat-shaped quart bottle is the best. A neat attractive label should be used, which will add materially to the looks of the syrup and help to sell it.

Crosses of Honor Only for Veterans Who Fought

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 22.—Crosses of honor for the living veterans of the Confederacy; monuments for the dead—such was the sentiment expressed and voted most emphatically yesterday by the United Daughters of the Confederacy in the third day's session of their National general convention. The strife that developed over this question proved to be the greatest so far of the convention.

The question of awarding of crosses of honor was precipitated by a motion submitted by Miss Alice Baxter of Georgia, who sought to have the lines broadened so as to give crosses to the lineal descendants of the veterans and to the relatives of those who fell on the field of battle. The motion was lost, as was a motion made by Mrs. D. Reynolds of Kentucky, to provide crosses for collateral descendants of veterans. The convention decided to furnish crosses of honor only to those of the grizzled veterans who have gone through the shock of battle.

Other than the settling of the vexing questions of the crosses of honor, the report of Mrs. L. Eustace Williams of Kentucky, the treasurer-general, was a feature of the day's session. In the routine sessions the reading of State reports was resumed and continued until late in the day.

The climax of the convention will come today when the election of general officers will be held and the selection of the next convention city comes up. Mrs. I. W. Faison of North Carolina and Mrs. Virginia McSherry of West Virginia are looming up formidably for the president-general's chair. The fight for the next convention city has narrowed down between Richmond, Va., and Little Rock, Ark., with sentiment apparently in favor of the Virginia City.

Victim of Negro's Assault May Die From Wound

PENSACOLA, Oct. 22.—Walter Hall, the young man who was assaulted by the negro Stewart at Century Monday afternoon and whose throat was cut almost from ear to ear, is in a critical condition as the result of the wounds, and advices from there are to the effect that it is hardly possible for him to survive. The jugular vein was severed, and while surgeons reached him within a few moments and stopped the flow of blood, it is not believed that he can live. According to statements made by parties coming from there yesterday morning a number of young friends of Hall attempted to get revenge upon other negroes residing near Century, and chased several, with the result that they were arrested. The sheriff, however, states that he has heard nothing of the trouble and the subsequent arrests, and does not believe that the young men were held by the officers.

RUFUS GLASS AGAIN IN TOILS OF THE LAW

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT OF A HORSE.

Rufus States That Horse Had Been Given Him to Trade, But Afterwards Denied.

From Saturday's Daily Sun:

Rufus Glass, a well-known colored horse trader, has again got into trouble, this time by being charged with embezzlement of a horse belonging to Cork Bellamy.

Rufus was arrested here by Sheriff Ramsey on Friday and given a preliminary hearing before Judge Mason, who bound him over in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of court.

Bellamy claims that he delivered to Glass a horse in good condition, and that the defendant was to take same off and sell him or make a trade for the better, but after selling the animal he took the money and used it personally.

Glass, on the other hand, claims that the animal died on his hands while he was en route to Ocala, near Martin station, in Marion county, all of which he will prove at the proper time, but in the meanwhile he is confined in the county jail until a sufficient bond is raised.

A MARVELOUS RECORD.

Party of Hunters in San Felasco Hammock Capture Many Squirrel.

Alachua county, especially the San Felasco hammock section, has always enjoyed an excellent reputation for the plentiful supply of game, but a party returning from the hammock Thursday afternoon at a late hour broke all records, as far as squirrel-shooting is concerned.

Tired of life over a hot bake oven, after several "threats" R. T. Schafer, the genial proprietor of the Keystone Bakery, decided to take a day or two off, and consequently, in company with David Newman and W. H. VanNetta, early Wednesday morning hied himself away to the thickly infested hammock of San Felasco in search of the festive squirrel.

Upon arriving at the hammock early in the morning a tempting breakfast was prepared, but not before the trio had succeeded in bagging fifteen or twenty squirrel each. After breakfast a short rest was taken, when the party again proceeded to slay everything in sight that looked like a squirrel, with the result that by Thursday the party had managed to bag 210 of the little animals.

The squirrel were loaded into the wagon and brought home, with the result that all Mr. Schafer's neighbors, as well as the neighbors of his companions, will be feasting on fried squirrel, squirrel pie, stewed squirrel—in fact squirrel "any old way"—for the next day or two.

Mr. Schafer says he has enjoyed mighty fine luck on all former hunting occasions, but this was a record-breaker. The festive little animals would actually come down and wink and run over their feet while they were seated at their meals around the camp fire.

CALF WITH TWO HEADS

LATEST AT TALLAHASSEE.

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 21.—"Have you seen the two-headed calf?" is the salutation taking the place this morning of the usual "Hello!" greeting between friends and acquaintances in Tallahassee, and the back yard of Martin Sauls of Magnolia Heights, a suburb of the city, is the mecca of a continuous stream of people going out to see the wonder.

The calf was born Tuesday and is a strong, healthy specimen, perfectly formed, except that it has two heads, each perfectly equipped with all the features and belongings of a normal animal. It has, however, only one bleat, but that issues impartially from either mouth.

DAVIDSON IS INNOCENT, SAID KELLEY'S AFFIDAVIT

Alleged Confession of Man Convicted Jointly With
D. M. Davidson for Murder of W. C. Sellars.

If reports are true, James M. Kelley, who with D. M. Davidson, was convicted at a special term of the circuit court in Palatka for the murder of Special Agent W. C. Sellars of the Atlantic Coast Line at High Springs, sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor, has made a clean confession to the authorities in the nature of an affidavit, in which it is alleged completely exonerates Davidson, declaring that Davidson had nothing to do with the murder of Sellars, that (Davidson) knew absolutely nothing about the crime, and that he (Kelley) alone was responsible for the man's death.

This is the rumor which has reached here, and the information that Kelley made this affidavit comes from a reliable source.

It will be remembered that the defendants applied for a change of venue from Alachua to Putnam county, on the ground that they did not believe they could secure a fair trial there. This request was granted, and a special term of the circuit court was called for Putnam county, being held in Palatka in June. The jury in Putnam county was secured with little difficulty and the trial proceeded, lasting one week.

Kelley and Davidson were arraigned and tried jointly for this offence, and many witnesses were examined, both for the state and defense, resulting finally in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, with a recommendation of the mercy of the court.

Davidson Exonerated in Court.

It will also be remembered that, just prior to being sentenced, Kelley made a mild sensation in the court room by declaring that Davidson was innocent of the crime. When commanded to rise, both stood up. When asked by the court if he had anything to say why the sentence of the law should not be passed upon him, Kelley unhesitatingly said: "As for myself, I have nothing to say; but as for D. M. Davidson, I will say truthfully that he is as innocent as any man within the hearing of my voice."

But this did not affect the verdict of the jury, and both men were sentenced in accordance with the verdict.

Immediately after the sentence was pronounced, Attorney J. N. Stripling for the defense filed notice of motion for a new trial, which was denied, after which the case was taken to the supreme court, where it now rests. In the meantime both men have been confined in the Putnam county jail.

A Case of Romance.

This case has been full of romance and sensation from beginning to the present time. After the men had been convicted and sentenced for life, Davidson was married in prison to a girl who came all the way from Waycross, and who manifested sufficient confidence in his innocence, even at that late hour, to give him her hand and heart, and the ceremony was performed with nothing but the grimness of a dark prison cell, the jail officials, and a few fellow-prisoners surrounding them.

It is now a difficult problem to determine just what effect this alleged affidavit of Kelley will have upon the case. He declares, as he declared in the court room, that Davidson is innocent, and naturally it is not the will of law and justice to punish an innocent man. It may result in the granting of a new severance trial, in which event Kelley's statement will no doubt have great weight upon a jury.

It is said that Kelley stated to Sheriff R. Lee Kennerly of Putnam county that Sellars was his eighth victim.

Board Refused to Admit Child to Insane Asylum

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 21.—The Board of Commissioners of State Institutions met Tuesday morning to consider the contents of a letter received by them from Hon. B. F. Whitner, Superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane. Mr. Whitner advised the board that he had declined to receive into the asylum a two-year-old child committed by the authorities of Jackson county. The child is an idiot, presumably made so by an attack of spinal meningitis, when only two weeks old. Mr. Whitner based his objection of the case on the ground that it was a case that under the existing laws should be cared for by the county commissioners. He wrote:

"I earnestly desire the support of the board in the action I have taken, as if this is allowed as a fit subject for care by this hospital we will soon be overrun by idiotic babies for the care of which no provision has been made, and who should be delivered to the county commissioners."

"Such a patient as this one would require the whole time and constant care and attention of a nurse. I would respectfully ask that the board would make some ruling definitely fixing the limit of age, etc., as to these infants, which can be sent to the several county judges and sheriffs of the State in circular form, thus avoiding similar action and saving expense in the future."

In reply a letter was authorized by the board and sent in this mail to Mr. Whitner, by Secretary Whitfield, from which the following is an excerpt:

"At a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of State Institutions held this morning, your letter of the 18th inst. relative to the young child committed to the hospital from Taylor county was presented, and it was ordered that your action in this matter be submitted to the Attorney-General with request that he prepare a proper circular letter to be transmitted to the county judges and sheriffs of the State. Very truly yours,

"G. T. WHITFIELD."

Try to Collect Policy of Man Who Was Hung

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The supreme court of the United States yesterday announced its determination to review the findings of the lower courts in the case of McCue vs. the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company. This case involves the question as to whether the ordinary life insurance policy insures against hanging under sentence of the law. McCue is one of the heirs of the late Major McCue of Charlottesville, Va., who was hanged a few years ago on the charge of murdering his wife. The insurance company refused to make payment on a policy amounting to $15,000. The United States circuit court for the western district of Virginia decided in favor of the company, holding that death on the gallows was not one of the risks against which McCue was insured, but the court of appeals for the fourth circuit reversed that finding and held in favor of the McCue policy. The supreme court will go over the entire record and decide the case on its merits.

SUCCESSFUL TRIP MADE BY THE PARTY

RETURN TRIP WAS MADE IN ABOUT SEVEN HOURS.

Claim That Distance Will Be Seventy-
One Miles Over This Route.

The pathfinding party which made the trip to Jacksonville on Thursday returned to this city on Thursday night, having made the round trip in about seven hours.

They left Jacksonville on the return journey at 4:30 and arrived in Gainesville at 12 o'clock, but considerable time was consumed in looking about the roads for the most available ones to map out as the official route between these two cities.

The entire party speak in the highest terms of the road selected and state that the trip can be made within four hours from Jacksonville to Gainesville, and sometime during next week the cars will be sent out with signs for the purpose of marking the route. The speedometers registered a distance of 71 miles after they had deducted some little differences that were made in running over the roads to obtain the most available one to use.

The garage people of this city have 75 signs that are being painted and they will commence at Evinston and place them up all the way to Starke, through this city, while the Automobile Club of Gainesville will take up the matter and will place them from the Bradford county line to Jacksonville.

There never was so much enthusiasm as at the present time over the road and it is now understood that Gainesville has secured the endurance route by planning for the proper marking of the roads, which will eventually be worked and placed in shape for the maintenance of a first-class roadway.

SPED PRISONER TO

JAIL IN AUTOMOBILE.

PENSACOLA, Oct. 21.—Only quick work on the part of two deputies prevented the lynching yesterday morning of Robert Stewart, a negro who had cut the throat of Walter Hall, a white boy, at Century, a small town ten miles north of here.

The deputies had arrested their man and were taking him to the railroad station. A mob of men were seen coming for the negro, and the deputies at once pushed him into an automobile, into which they clambered, and started the machine at full speed for Pensacola. They kept up a high speed until they reached the Escambia county jail.

Young Hall was set upon by the negro for some unknown cause.

This Was Some Time.

Dr. J. F. McKinstry, Jr., received a "hurry call" to Perry on professional business Thursday, and the wire requested him to report at the earliest possible moment.

The most direct and quickest route at the hour the message was received was via Newberry, and Elmer McCreary tendered the Doctor a ride to that point in his Buick automobile, where he could catch a train. The Doctor availed himself of the invitation, and in one hour and ten minutes he was waiting at the station in Newberry for the train, with twenty-eight minutes to spare. On his return Mr. McCreary made the trip from Newberry to this city in fifty minutes, but would have made better time had it not been for the blinding rain he was compelled to face, which also had a tendency to make the roads very bad.

It Will Help You

Mrs. Luzania Morgan, Sneedville, Tenn., writes: "For ten years I suffered with the turn of life, and tried many remedies without relief. I had pains all over my body and at times I could not sit up. At last I took Cardui and now I can do my housework. I have told many ladies about Cardui and recommend it to all sick women." Try it.

33,601 Men Now Employed On The Big Panama Canal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The big Panama ditch is half way toward completion, according to the report of Chief Engineer Goethals to the Canal Commission.

It is predicted that the digging from now on will be easier, as the force of workmen is now thoroughly organized. It is no longer a matter of merely taking out hundreds of thousands of cubic yards of earth every day. While some of the men are cutting the gash in Culobra others are building dams, and still others have begun the preliminary work for the big locks. Before another month the three branches of canal work will be at the zenith of activity.

The force now employed on the canal is the largest since the work began. It aggregates 33,901 men. Of these 25,519 are digging the canal or looking after those who are doing the digging.

The death rate is now 16.20 per thousand, as compared with 51.05 in 1905. The death rate among the employees in September was only 10.28 per thousand. The typhoid rate is less than half that of Pennsylvania and probably less than it is for the entire United States.

Passed Over "Dead Line;" Ten Miners Are Killed

HARTSHORNE, Okla., Oct. 22.—Ten miners are dead, two are injured and one missing as a result of an explosion in mine No. 10, of the Rock Island Coal Mining Company. Nine bodies were recovered. The men are believed to have gone beyond a "dead line" with lighted lamps in entering the mine, the lamps igniting escaping gas. The fact that Dan Hughes, a sub-boss, was with the other men, suggests the theory that the men were arranging the air courses to carry out the gas when one or more of the men passed over the "dead line."

Hughes was alive when taken from the mine, but never regained consciousness.

This is the third largest catastrophe in the history of the McAlester mining district. In the Dengan mine near Wilburton, in 1905, nineteen men were killed. Twenty-nine men were killed on August 26, 1908, in the Halley-Ola mine near Halleyville.

Woman Left $4,000,000 By a Former Sweetheart

JONESBORO, Ark., Oct. 22.—Coming as a sequel of her girlhood days, Mrs. John D. Erwin, wife of a Greene county farmer, will probably be put in possession of an estate valued, it is estimated, at $4,000,000. R. E. McGoff, a Kentucky attorney, executor of the estate of a resident of that State whose name he will not disclose, is in Jonesboro securing proof as to the identity of Mrs. Erwin. Some years ago, it is asserted, Mrs.

Erwin, then Mary Duval, met a young German, who told her of vast ancestral estates. The two became fast friends, but because of parental objection the marriage which he proposed did not occur. Instead the young woman became the wife of a farmer. Recently the man who first sought her hand died, naming in his will as his legatee his former sweetheart. That she can produce ample proof that she is the person is declared by Mrs. Erwin.
